WINEMAKER'S NOTES

The grapes are harvested in the early morning to keep them bright and fresh. The fruit goes in whole cluster into the press and is then racked off to stainless steel tanks for cold fermentation before it is bottled.

2021 HARVEST

After several years the 2021 harvest started by the end of February in what we refer to as "normal timing", the main reason is given that we had a colder season that led into a slower maturation curve, thus accomplishing a more homogeneous process that brought complexity and intensity to the grapes. The characteristics of this harvest derived in moderate yields, which benefited the concentration of the fruit, allowing for its origins and variety to express themselves to it's full potential. As a result of all of these, we are greeted with fresh and soft wines that offers a balanced acidity.
