WINEMAKER'S NOTES

After primary fermentation, the wine is macerated on top of the skins for another five days to achieve greater smoothness and intensity of flavors. Finally, the wine is racked to neutral oak barrels and aged

VINTAGE 2019

An excellent harvest in the Casablanca Valley. The moderate temperatures during spring, without significant rain, allowed for good bud break and flowering. During summer there were wide thermal oscillations which benefited the ripening curve and helping maintain the freshness of the fruit in this area. Harvest was pushed up by 10 days with respect to last year and with lower yields, leading to an aromatic intensity and flavors. Delivering fresh wines with balanced acidity and a long finish.
